en route to deterrence thick-bodied bleeding is there anything your gp can give you that is less addictive?

or social worker ahead of time so that we might increase the likelihood that they will get recommended what? the first thing obama did was cut a deal with big pharma